

(als Übungstext freigegeben)

Fast food

Fast food is called fast food because it's easy and quick to eat. You can eat it with your hands and you don't have to sit down.

McDonald's has the most restaurants. There are 22,000 McDonald's restaurants in 109 countries; more than half are in the USA.

Every country has its typical fast food: "fish and chips" in Great Britain, "pizza" in Italy or "kebab" in Turkey.

Mögliche Fragen zum Text „Fast food“

- 1. Why is fast food called “fast food”?
- 2. In how many countries can you find McDonald’s restaurants?
- 3. Where can you find the most fast food restaurants?
- 4. How can you eat fast food?
- 5. What kind of fast food do you find in Great Britain?
- 6. What typical fast food can you eat in Italy?
- 7. Do you know any typical fast food from Turkey?
- 8. What’s the name of the most famous fast food restaurant?